

SIDRA

Brand guidelines · edition one

Speciality coffee and bakery · founded 2019 · four sites in Dubai

A neighbourhood speciality coffee and bakery for Dubai's second peak — the hours after work, when the heat drops and the city comes back outside.

This brand is fictional. SIDRA is a fictional Dubai speciality coffee and bakery chain, invented for the AI 208 coursework demonstration. It is not a real company. Footfall and point-of-sale figures shown against it are simulated, and are labelled as such wherever they appear.

Generated from data/brand/sidra.yaml by scripts/build_brand_pdf.py. The compliance rules in section five are enforced by the application from that same file, so this document and the running rule set cannot disagree. Regenerate rather than edit.

One — the name

Arabic for the Ziziphus (sidr) tree, which fruits in heat and keeps its leaves through the dry season.

Opened as a single counter in Deira in 2019 serving the early market trade, and grew toward the evening as it moved west across the city.

Coffee roasted for iced service, and a bakery counter built around dates, cardamom and pistachio rather than around European patisserie.

The Arabic and Hindi forms of the name are held in the source file and are set correctly by the web application. They are omitted from this PDF: the generator has no Arabic shaping or bidirectional layout, and unshaped Arabic printed left-to-right is worse than no Arabic at all.

Two — the four sites

The estate is deliberately heterogeneous. Al Barsha is fully enclosed and Marina Walk is more than half outdoors, so the same weather moves them in opposite directions. That is why demand is forecast per site rather than per brand.

Code	Site	Seats	Outdoor	Hours	Character
DXB-DTN	Downtown	54	0	07:00–23:30	Tourist-heavy, event-elastic, flat across the week
DXB-MOE	Al Barsha	68	0	08:00–23:00	Resident family, indoor, weather-inelastic
DXB-MAR	Marina Walk	40	46	07:30–01:00	Expat evening, outdoor seating, strongly weather-elastic
DXB-DEI	Deira	32	12	06:00–22:00	Value segment, early peak, Ramadan-heavy

Three — voice

— Say the specific thing. "From 17:00, Marina Walk only" beats "now available".

— Name the product, not the feeling. Cardamom cold brew, not "an experience".

— One claim per piece. A creative that says three things says none.

— Write in sentence case. SIDRA is not shouted.

— Arabic is written, not translated. The AR variant is composed in Arabic, not run through a translator from the English.

Do

- Use exact times, exact sites, exact prices.
- Say what is in the cup and what it costs.
- Let a limited offer be visibly limited — dates, hours, sites.

Do not

- Superlatives without substantiation ("best", "finest", "world-class").
- Health, nutrition or wellness framing of any kind. See `claims_to_avoid`.

- Urgency manufactured by scarcity language that is not true.
- Borrowed cultural reverence — Ramadan and Eid are trading periods for the business, and the copy does not perform piety to sell pastry.

Four — colour and type

Every chip below prints its measured contrast against ink. The rule that ink must never be set on date is not a matter of taste — it is 3.1:1 and fails WCAG AA.

	DATE #6B3F28 2.0:1 vs ink	CARDAMOM #5F7A63 3.8:1 vs ink
SAFFRON #D9963A 7.1:1 vs ink	SEMOLINA #F2E8D8 14.6:1 vs ink	PAPER #F8F7F0 16.6:1 vs ink

Colour rules

- Saffron appears once per creative and never as a background.
- Date and semolina carry every piece; cardamom is for secondary marks.
- Never place ink type on date — it fails contrast. Use semolina.

Type rules

Display Marcellus · body Karla · Arabic Noto Naskh Arabic · Devanagari Noto Sans Devanagari

- Headlines set in Marcellus, sentence case, no tracking added.
- Body never below 14px in a 1080px creative.
- Arabic is set in Noto Naskh at 1.08x the Latin size for optical parity.

Five — claims to avoid

These are enforced by the application, not merely stated here. Each rule names the document it comes from. Where a clause is marked unverified, the source document's identity has been checked by fetching it, but the specific clause has not yet been read verbatim — the corpus ingestion supplies the quote and flips the flag. A rule set that cited clauses nobody had read would be exactly the failure this application exists to catch.

SID-N-001 · nutrition · high

A nutrient-content claim of "free" carries a numeric threshold. The date syrup latte and every syrup-sweetened drink on the menu exceed it, so the claim is false on SIDRA's own products.

Triggers sugar[-]free, no sugar, zero sugar, 0000 000, 0000? 00 00000, 0000 00 00000, 0000[-]?0000, 0000 0000

Source CXG 23-1997 Guidelines for Use of Nutrition and Health Claims (rev. 2013) — FAO/WHO Codex Alimentarius Commission
— Nutrient content claims — conditions for 'free' claims · clause unverified

SID-N-002 · nutrition · high

A dietary-regime claim implies a compositional guarantee SIDRA does not test for and cannot substantiate per batch.

Triggers keto, low[-]carb, carb[-]free, ■■■■, ■■■■ ■■■■■■■■■■■■, ■■■■, ■■[-]?■■■■■

Source CXG 23-1997 Guidelines for Use of Nutrition and Health Claims (rev. 2013) — FAO/WHO Codex Alimentarius Commission
— Nutrient content and comparative claims · clause unverified

SID-H-003 · health · critical

These are health claims. A health claim requires substantiation by competent authority review, which a cafe menu has not had. This is the single most likely failure mode for F&B; copy and the one the Compliance agent is tuned hardest against.

Triggers detox, cleanse, immunity, immune[-]boost, superfood, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,

Source CXG 23-1997 Guidelines for Use of Nutrition and Health Claims (rev. 2013) — FAO/WHO Codex Alimentarius Commission
— Health claims — general requirements and substantiation · clause unverified

SID-H-004 · health · critical

A claim that a food treats or prevents a condition is a medicinal claim and is prohibited on food outright, not merely unsubstantiated.

Triggers cures?, treats?, prevents?, heals?, clinically proven, ■■■■■, ■■■■, ■■■■, ■■■■ ■■■■■, ■■■■, ■■■ ■■■■, clinically proven, **■■■■■■■■■

Source CXG 23-1997 Guidelines for Use of Nutrition and Health Claims (rev. 2013) — FAO/WHO Codex Alimentarius Commission
— Claims which should be prohibited · clause unverified

SID-N-005 · nutrition · medium

Unqualifiable and misleading — every food is chemical. "Natural" has no agreed definition SIDRA can point to when asked.

Triggers 100% natural, all natural, chemical[-]free, 100%, 100% ? 100%, 100%
100%, 100% natural, 100% 100%, 100% 100%

Source UAE MoEC Consumer protection guidance — UAE Ministry of Economy and Tourism — Misleading commercial description clause unverified

SID-A-006 · allergen · critical

Any creative naming a product that carries a declared allergen must carry the allergen statement in the same piece. Pistachio knafeh and za'atar saj both trigger this. Absence is the violation, so this rule is checked by presence rather than by pattern.

Triggers —

Source DM Food Safety Dubai Municipality food safety and labelling guidance — Dubai Municipality — Allergen declaration on prepacked and prepared foods · clause unverified

SID-P-007 · price · high

A discount claim must state the period and the reference price it is discounted from. A bare "30% off" cannot be substantiated by a reader.

Triggers \bwas\b.*\bnow\b,\d+% ?off, half price, ■■■■, ■■■■■■, ■■■■ ■■■■■■, ■■■■, \d+% ?■■ ■■■■, ■■■■ ■■■■■■

Source UAE MoEC Consumer protection guidance — UAE Ministry of Economy and Tourism — Price reduction and promotional offer disclosure · clause unverified

SID-B-008 · brand · medium

Unsubstantiated superlative. Also against SIDRA's own voice, which is specific rather than boastful — so this fails on brand grounds even where a regulator would not act.

Triggers best, finest, world[-]class, number one, the only, ■■■■■■, ■■■■, ■■■■■■, ■■ ■■■■, ■■■■■■■■, ■■■■■■■■■■, ■■■■ ■■■■■■, ■■■■ ■■

Source SIDRA BG SIDRA brand guidelines — SIDRA (fictional) — Voice — do not use superlatives without substantiation · verified · "Superlatives without substantiation ("best", "finest", "world-class")."

SID-B-009 · brand · low

Permitted only where the piece also states what makes it so — baked on site, baked that morning. Alone these are filler, and SIDRA's voice rule is to say the specific thing.

Triggers artisan, handcrafted, fresh(ly)? baked, authentic, ■■■■, ■■■■, ■■■■, ■■■■■■■■, ■■■■■■■■■■, ■■■■■■■■■■

Source SIDRA BG SIDRA brand guidelines — SIDRA (fictional) — Voice — say the specific thing · verified · "Say the specific thing. "From 17:00, Marina Walk only" beats "now available"."

SID-B-010 · brand · medium

SIDRA does not use religious register to sell. Ramadan and Eid are trading periods for the business and the copy says so plainly.

Triggers blessed, holy, sacred, spiritual, ■■■■■■, ■■■■, ■■■■■■■■, ■■■■■■■■, ■■■■■■■■■■

Source SIDRA BG SIDRA brand guidelines — SIDRA (fictional) — Voice — do not borrow cultural reverence · verified · "Borrowed cultural reverence — Ramadan and Eid are trading periods for the business, and the copy does not perform piety to sell pastry."

SID-N-011 · nutrition · high

Making a nutrition claim triggers a nutrient declaration. A creative that names calories or protein without the accompanying declaration states half of a regulated disclosure, which is worse than stating none of it.

Triggers \bcalories?\b,\bkcal\b,\bprotein\b,\bfibre\b,\blow fat\b,\b■■■■■\b

Source CXG 2-1985 Guidelines on Nutrition Labelling (rev. 2024) — FAO/WHO Codex Alimentarius Commission — Nutrient declaration becomes mandatory where a nutrition claim is made · clause unverified

Six — offers

- Every offer states its sites, its hours and its end date.
- No offer runs on a day the forecast's lower bound cannot staff.
- Nothing is published by this application. Export is a human action.